Why Insulation Panels?

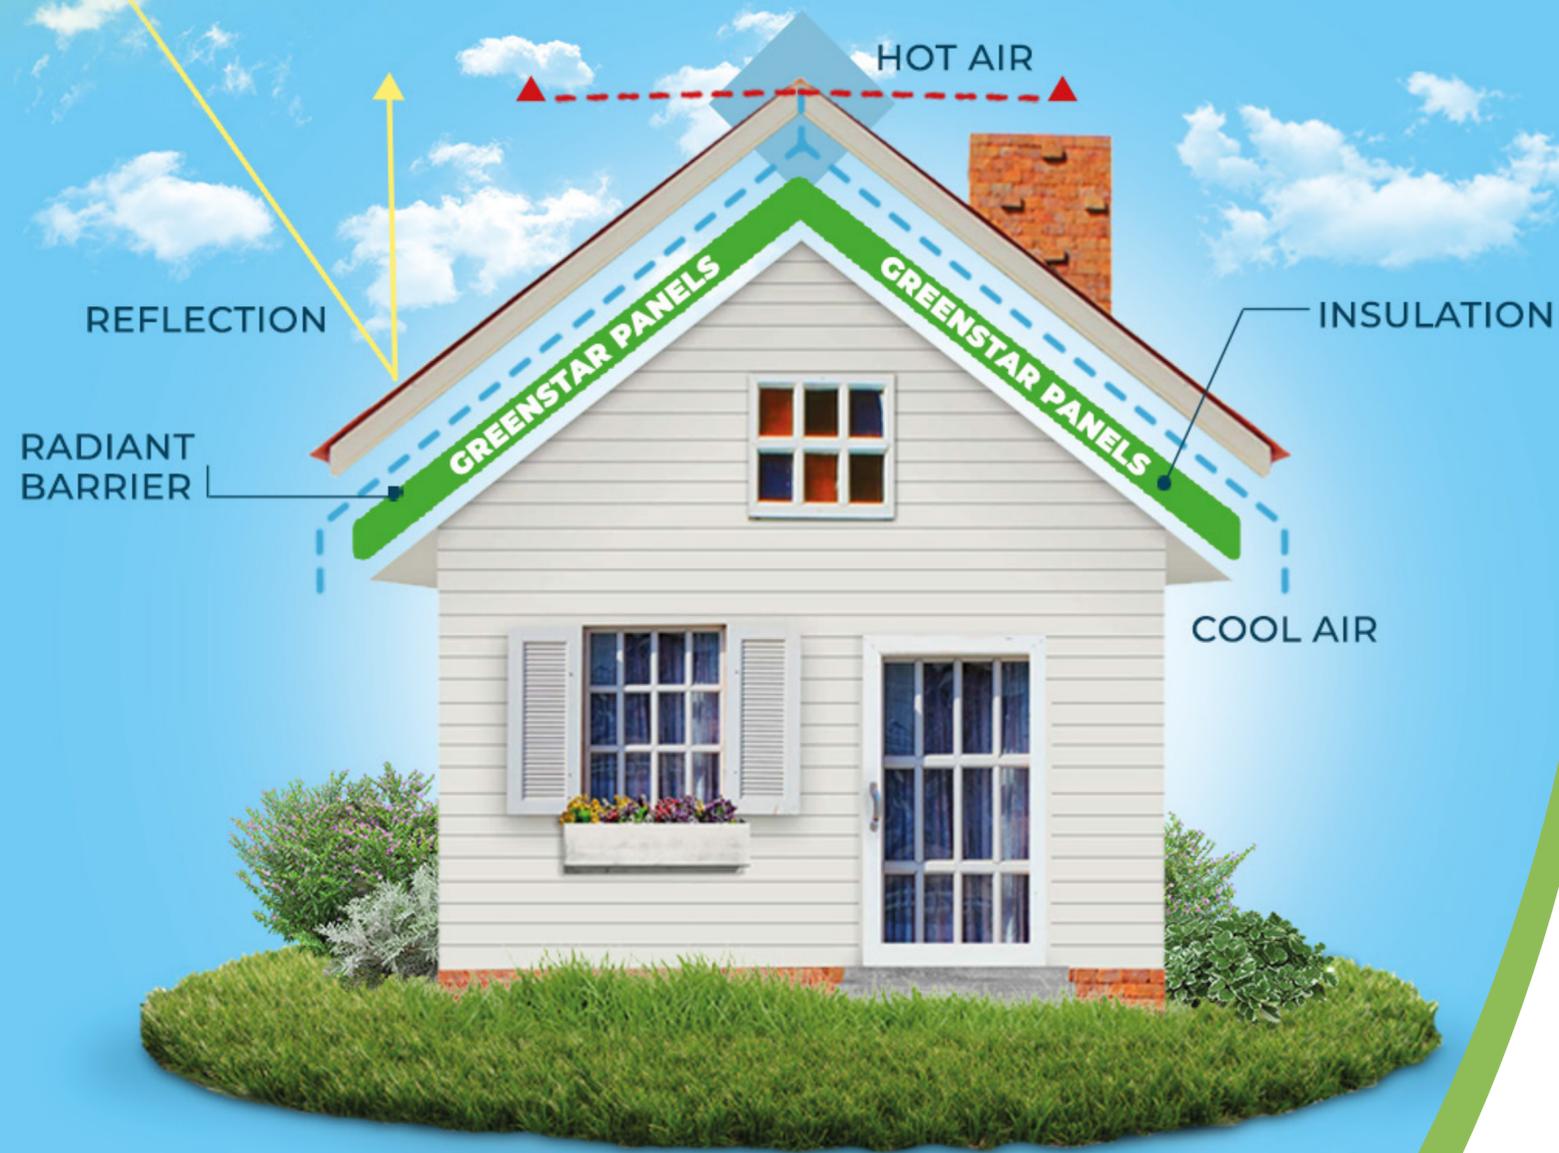

- Rising demand for energy-efficient construction.
- Increasing consumer awareness about the benefits of structural insulated panels.
- A positive outlook to support green construction activities.

How it works

- Heat is channeled out of the attic through our patented process of 2" EPS panels with aluminum reflective radiant barriers.
- Easily installed without removal of existing insulation type providing an effective R-38 insulation value.
- Resulting in comfort for your home and reduced energy consumption.

Mold resistant, non-toxic, and will not decay or degrade from humidity.

Greenstar Panels work by stopping all 3 types of heat intrusion:

RADIANT

Deflects 97% of the sun's energy that penetrates the roof.

CONVECTION

Creates an air channel from the soffit to the ridge vent, making a chimney effect.

CONDUCTION

Prevents heat from flowing into the rest of the home through expanded polystyrene panels.

Why Greenstar Panels?

Our proven business model is built around customer experience that will allow you to enter the lucrative world of residential and business insulation.

- EPS is the fastest-growing segment of the insulation market, with an estimated 30% market share and growing each year.
- Industry growth projections at a combined annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5%-6% and the total North American insulation market size projected to eclipse $20 billion by 2025.
- About 45 million residences in the US are living in under-insulated conditions representing significant opportunities in the insulation industry*.
